Construction is On

Karl and Brent Work left Washington on May 19 to head for Alaska. They began construction on the foundation for our home. In less than two days they went from the hole in the ground to having footers framed and ready for the concrete truck.

Since that time, things have been slowing down. Our supplier for the styrofoam concrete forms is having difficulty delivering the product. Please be praying that God would bring the necessary materials together to finish the basement as much as possible before the framing crew arrives. Also, please pray for us to wait on God's timing even if that means the construction doesn't go according to plan.

Mosquito War

The war is on! Alaskan Mosquitoes versus Karl and Brent. Certain necessary weapons for this fight include a battery-operated mosquito zapper and the all powerful propane mosquito vacuum.

For more pictures and updates regarding the construction, make sure to check out our website at www.firstfruitsfarm.com/alaska We also have our new address and telephone number in Alaska. Thank you for your continued prayers and support.
